Among the beautiful gifts was a chest of silver for Mrs. Havenner from officials and employees of the Department of Commerce. ## REACH AGREEMENT ON GAS EXTENSIONS

Lighting Companies and Citizens' Associations Appear Before Utilities Board.

Following a hearing before the Public Utilities Commission today an agreement was reached between representatives of the Washington and Georgetown Gas Light Companies and several citizens' associations regarding the proposed regulations for the extension of gas service pipes.

The regulations suggested by the commission for the extension of the gas service pipes provide that the cost of installation of the portion from the gas main to the property line shall be borne by the gas companies and from the property line to the house by the owner of the property, the cost of maintenance to be borne equally by the companies and the property owners, respectively.

The proposition advanced by Ben L. Mink, representing the Washington Gas Light Company, was that the cost of installation should be borne equally by the property owners and the companies, the latter to bear the entire cost of maintenance.

This was agreed to by Capt. W. M. Foster, representing the East Washington Citizens' Association, Creed M. Fulton, representing the West End Citizens' Association, and D. J. Wiseman, representing the Howard Park Citizens' Association, as a fair and equitable proposition.

The regulations provide also that upon application to serve premises with gas, the gas light companies shall extend their mains without cost to the applicant a distance of 125 feet in length per house. If this length of extension is not sufficient to reach the premises, the applicants shall deposit with the company a distance of 125 feet of the further extension necessary, or the actual cost to the company of the extension. It is provided also that the deposit shall be returned by the companies to the depositors at the rate of $5.75 (the amount of deposit to cover 125 feet of extension) for each additional house served until the entire amount is refunded.

Mr. Fulton objected to the requirement of a deposit from the property owner. The commission announced that consideration will be given the arguments, pending the final adoption of the regulations.

Suffragists to Meet.

Other speakers will be Mrs. Wesley M. Stoner, Mrs. Manetto B. Paul, and Mrs. Helen R. Tindall.

WAR LOAN INQUIRY DENIED BY WILSON

Question of Morgan's Firm Dealing With France Not Discussed at White House.

The question of a war loan of $100,000,000 to the French government, through J. P. Morgan & Co. was not before the President today. At the White House it was officially stated that there was no appointment to discuss this matter, and that "it is not before us."

The President was known, however, to be opposed to any proposition which would give financial aid to any of the governments. To observe strict neutrality, and to avoid the displeasure of any of the belligerents he was inclined to the belief that any loan ought not to have the Administration's approval.

President Wilson has no authority to prevent the Morgan firm from making such a loan, if it desires. All he can do is to express disapproval and to use his influence against it.

It was stated authoritatively at Secretary of State Bryan's office today that no request has been received from any New York bankers asking if a proposed loan to France would be a violation of neutrality. Mr. Bryan's confidential clerk said that reports that J. P. Morgan & Co. asked for a ruling were incorrect, and that no one has requested the department for such an opinion, nor any other foreign loan inquiry been made.
